The Human Rights Situation in the Occupied Palestinian Territory

The Israeli aggression on the Gaza Strip on 07 October 2023 has marked a turning point in the Palestinian history and a new Nakba for the Palestinian people, particularly in Gaza that has been under a genocidal war and systematic destruction of most residential buildings and infrastructure. According to the latest figures on the ongoing war in Gaza, 35,456 have been reportedly killed and 79,476 have been injured¹, with thousands missing, and 1.9 million displaced. Additionally, there has been significant destruction of infrastructure, homes, and institutions, with almost 62% of homes destroyed, 84% of hospitals damaged, over 60% of agricultural land affected, and more than 80% of industrial and commercial establishments destroyed.²

IOF are waging an unprecedented war on the Gaza Strip for the eighth consecutive month with unprecedented casualties and widespread destruction, clearly revealing the explicit intent to exterminate the Palestinian people in the Gaza Strip. since the beginning of the war, Palestinian civilians and their objects have been Israel's main targets by forcibly displacing them from their neighborhoods, targeting them not only in their homes but also in their shelters. They have subjected civilians to inhumane and coercive conditions, extremely endangering their lives amid a suffocating siege that has reached the point of starvation and the complete deprivation of all basic human necessities. Also, residential buildings, with their residents inside, were evidently targeted, demolishing entire residential blocks on top of their heads. Vital civilian infrastructure necessary for the survival of the population, such as healthcare centers, hospitals, civil defense units, as well as water, electricity, and communication services, were targeted from the very first day of the war. Additionally, IOF have systematically destroyed water and sewage networks. Throughout the war, the Israeli military has also obliterated any prospects for future life in Gaza by demolishing schools, universities, factories, and bulldozing agricultural lands, as well as razing roads, development projects, shops, and warehouses.

This aggression is another chapter in the Palestinian people's cycle of suffering under an occupation ongoing for more than 75 years, marking the longest occupation in modern history. It began in 1948 when IOF forcibly displaced hundreds of thousands of Palestinian inhabitants from their lands through horrific massacres in Palestinian villages and cities. In 1967, IOF further extended its control over all Palestinian territory, unleashing yet another wave of devastation and mass displacement, ripping more families from their roots and ancestral lands. Since then, successive Israeli governments have relentlessly pursued to Judaize Palestinian lands and systematically alter its identity and demographics through ethnic cleansing, land fragmentation, imposing a stifling siege on Gaza, erupting military checkpoints, and imposing an apartheid system. All these acts constitute war crimes and crimes against humanity, amounting to a crime of apartheid, in pursuant to international human rights experts and advocates, including UN Special Rapporteurs on the occupied Palestinian territory.

The situation in the occupied Palestinian territory was catastrophic even before the 7 October aggression, due to Israel's arbitrary policies and ongoing attacks on the Palestinian territory. The year 2023 witnessed dangerous escalation with the rise of the far-right Israeli government, led by some of the most extremist politicians in Israeli history, including settlers. This extremist government entrenched the apartheid policy in the occupied Palestinian territory, particularly in the West Bank. The Israeli military escalated its attacks in the West Bank and tightened the siege on Gaza, while settlement expansion accelerated, Palestinian homes continued to be demolished, and armed settler attacks on Palestinians in the West Bank increased. Prior to the 07 October aggression, IOF's escalation in 2023 had already claimed the lives of 234 Palestinians, including 118 civilians, amongst them 47 children and 6 women. Two Palestinians died in Israeli prisons, while 1,280 were injured, including 196 children, 33 women, and 20 journalists, in the West Bank and Gaza Strip. During the final quarter of 2023, as reported by the Palestinian Ministry of Health, the number of casualties has risen to 28,822 deaths and missing within 86 days of war, including 9,100 children and 5,000 women, 56,451 others were injured, and approximately 1.8 million were displaced. In 2023, 21,500 Palestinians were killed in the West Bank and Gaza, among them were 513 Palestinians killed throughout the year, including 319 after 07 October. Dozens were also killed in the West Bank throughout the year, some by settlers. In the Gaza Strip, 30 Palestinians were killed during an Israeli aggression in May that lasted several days.

IOF extensively and systematically use arbitrary detention and torture against Palestinians, particularly during the war on Gaza, where thousands of Palestinians, mostly civilians, were subjected to arrest and torture. Many of those detainees were Palestinian workers who happened to be inside Israel for work under permits issued by the Israeli authorities. PCHR documented tens of cruel torture cases against Palestinians in the Gaza Strip, some of lead to the death of detainees or caused amputations or permanent disabilities.

There have been reports of mass enforced disappearances of Palestinian detainees from the Gaza Strip by Israeli forces. Palestinians are held in detention centers that are not overseen by the Israeli Prison Service and are not monitored by the International Committee of the Red Cross. Since the beginning of the war, IOF has refused to disclose the number or names of those it has detained in Gaza and has denied detainees' families and lawyers any communication with them. Human rights organizations have issued statements holding the Israeli authorities fully responsible for the safety of the detainees in their prisons, warning that hundreds of detainees could face death if torture and medical neglect continue.

Human rights organizations have called for an immediate and independent investigation into the recent deaths of detainees, amid suspicions that many died as a result of torture, ill-treatment, and extrajudicial executions³.

Palestinian detainees from Gaza are subjected to inhumane and degrading conditions, systematic torture with sexual violence practiced against many of them, including sexual harassment and arbitrary strip searches. The conditions in the Israeli prisons have drastically worsened since the onset of the war on Gaza, as part of Israel's collective punishment policy against Palestinians.

In 2023, IOF's arbitrary arrest campaigns escalated unprecedentedly. From the beginning of the year until the 07 October aggression, about 11,000 Palestinians were arrested in the West Bank and Gaza Strip, including 1,085 children and 300 women. After 07 October, another 5,500 Palestinians were detained, including 335 children and 184 women. This figure does not account for Palestinians arrested in Gaza during the ground invasion or workers detained inside Israel while working. The Israeli authorities have not disclosed their numbers or fates. Additionally, 5,500 Palestinians were issued new administrative detention orders or had existing ones renewed in 2023, with 2,670 of these occurring in the last three months of the year, after 07 October. This highlights the scale of arrests carried out by Israeli forces against Palestinians.

By the end of December 2023, the total number of Palestinian detainees in Israeli prisons had reached 8,800, including more than 80 female prisoners in Damon Prison. We could not confirm the status of other detained women from Gaza, held in different camps, and there is no accurate count of children in Israeli prisons. The number of administrative detainees stands at 3,291, meaning the total number of prisoners rose to 3,550 compared to the pre-7 October phase, with administrative detainees increasing by 1,971.

Throughout the year, seven Palestinian detainees died in Israeli prisons. Two of them died before the 07 October events due to medical neglect—one following complications after a heart catheterization, and the other after being left to die following an 87-day hunger strike. After 7 October, five more detainees died, including two from Gaza, as a result of torture amid the brutal crackdown on thousands of Palestinian prisoners in the Israeli prisons. Notably, these figures do not include those detained in Gaza since the beginning of the Israeli war, most of whom are subjected to enforced disappearance, with their families and lawyers left in the dark about their whereabouts or conditions.

In the same context, IOF escalated its long-standing policy of targeting journalists aiming to silence the truth. For decades, IOF have systematically targeted journalists with live and rubber bullets, arbitrary arrests and threats amid restrictions on journalists' freedom of movement and other repressive measures aimed at impeding their work. PCHR has frequently documented and warned against these actions in its periodic report, "Silencing the Press."

PCHR has alarmingly noticed during the ongoing war on the Gaza Strip that IOF have pursued a systematic policy to silence the press. Journalists have been directly targeted, whether at home or in the field. As of the date of this report, 140 journalists have been killed by Israeli fire during the 7 October aggression, in addition to dozens of others who have sustained severe injuries, many while performing their duties, marking the highest number of journalist casualties worldwide. The indiscriminate bombing of homes and civilian facilities, with no regard for press insignia or the presence of civilians, has forced most journalists, particularly those from international and regional outlets, to leave Gaza, realizing their lives are in grave danger due to Israel's disregard for their status as journalists.

Several UN Special Rapporteurs have confirmed this deliberate targeting of journalists in Gaza, aimed at obscuring the truth. In a statement, they noted:

We have received disturbing reports that, despite being clearly identifiable in their jackets and helmets marked ‘press’ or travelling in well-marked press vehicles, journalists have come under attack, which would seem to indicate that the killings, injuries, and detention are a deliberate strategy by Israeli forces to obstruct the media and silence critical reporting⁴, they said.

“Grave concern over Israel’s refusal to let media from outside Gaza to enter and report unless they are embedded with the Israeli forces.” They added.⁵

In 2023, settler crimes and settlement expansion in the West Bank, including occupied Jerusalem, hit unprecedented levels particularly after the Gaza war. The rise reflects plans by far-right minister Bezalel Smotrich, supported by Israel’s most extremist government, to double settlements in the coming years, as settler violence, with the protection of IOF, against Palestinian civilians and their properties has escalated. Since taking office in December 2022, Netanyahu's coalition has approved 13,000 new settlement units—nearly double the number of homes approved in all of 2022. In May, the Central Planning Council of Israel's Civil Administration approved 5,623 new colonial units in the West Bank,⁶ including 359 units in Elkana, 381 in Revava, 29 in Giv'at Ze'ev, 42 in Karmiel, 7 in Hermesh, and an additional 4,915 units in advanced planning stages.⁷

Regarding restrictions on individuals' movement, the Israeli siege on Gaza continued for the 17th consecutive year. On 07 October 2023, coinciding with the military aggression on Gaza, Israeli authorities completely closed the Beit Hanoun 'Erez' crossing, blocking the passage of all categories having been limitedly allowed to travel. Among those affected were hundreds of cancer patients receiving scheduled treatment according to medical protocols, for whom any delay in care poses a serious threat to their lives.

Since the start of the war, 4,917 patients and injured individuals have been referred abroad for treatment via the Rafah crossing, 50.4% of the 9,741 requests submitted.⁸ Meanwhile, Gaza's healthcare system has nearly collapsed due to systematic attacks by IOF. According to Gaza's Ministry of Health, 155 medical facilities were targeted, shutting down 32 hospitals and 53 healthcare centers. Additionally, 130 ambulances were destroyed, with an estimated average bed occupancy of 244% and 242% for the ICU bed occupancy. Meanwhile, 400 kidney patients are deprived of dialysis at hospitals, and 1,360,191 cases of infectious diseases have been reported in the UNRWA and Governmental primary health care centers, including 58884 cases of hepatitis A, due to the severely overcrowded shelters with poor sanitation. Moreover, during the aggression, 493 medical personnel members were killed and over 310 were detained.⁹

In 2023, IOF continued to impose tightened restrictions on the entry of items classified as “dual use¹⁰.” The dual-use items include 61 types and hundreds of commodities and essential supplies. The siege has deeply jeopardized Gaza populations’ economic rights, as the unemployment rate reached 46.6%, with 253,000 workers jobless¹¹, and raising poverty to 53%, according to the Palestinian Central Bureau of Statistics¹². Additionally, 62.2% of Gaza’s population faced food insecurity, according to the OCHA report.¹³

On 07 October 2023, as the Israeli military campaign began on Gaza, IOF closed Kerem Shalom commercial crossing, Gaza's sole and main commercial crossing, blocking essential goods, foodstuffs, and medical supplies, causing a severe shortage of most essential food supplies, such as meat, poultry, eggs, vegetables, sugar, cooking gas, and fuel. As a result, prices for limitedly available goods rose by more than 500%, leaving most of Gaza's population in hunger and extreme food insecurity. A joint WFP and UNICEF report¹⁴ noted that North Gaza had reached the fifth and most critical level of food insecurity, putting thousands of children, the elderly, and the sick at risk of starvation and dehydration. The report also indicated that about 95% of families have reduced both the number and portion size of their meals, with 64% of families managing on only one meal per day, and adults eating less to prioritize food for children. In late October, the occupation forces began permitting limited humanitarian aid into Gaza. Since the start of the Israeli war, 19,354 trucks have entered, carrying 19,952 tons of medical supplies, 10,435 tons of fuel, 123,453 tons of food, 26,692 tons of water, 44,103 tons of other relief items, 2,023 tons of tents and tarps, and 123 equipped ambulances. Due to malnutrition and dehydration, 28 residents in Gaza have died.¹⁵

According to the Gaza Municipality, IOF cut off water sources to the Gaza Strip, prevented the entry of fuel needed to operate the wells, and deliberately destroyed, through its war machine, about 40 water wells, 9 tanks of different sizes, and about 42 thousand linear meters of water networks of different diameters. IOF also destroyed local and central wells, most notably the Safa well in the northeast of the city, which supplies 20% of Gaza's water needs, while the water purchased from the Israeli company Mekorot, which covers 25% of the Gaza's needs, is being withheld. During April, IOF resumed pumping water from the Mekorot company. Moreover, IOF have destroyed about 60 out of 80 operational wells and damaged the desalination plant, which provided 10% of Gaza's daily water needs.¹⁶ Electricity and water supplies have been cut from the first day of the war.

During the war on the Gaza Strip, the education sector was subject to both direct and indirect attacks over a span of six months. The Israeli military aggression deprived over 620,000 students of continuing their education, as students were forced to discontinue their education after only one month into the 2023/2024 academic year. These students were enrolled in 796 schools across the Gaza Strip, including 442 public schools, 284 UNRWA-run schools, and 70 private schools.¹⁷ A total of 351 schools sustained various levels of damage, ranging from complete destruction to severe partial damage, including 286 public schools and 65 UNRWA schools.¹⁸ IOF used some of these schools as military bases, detention centers, and interrogation camps, and soldiers wrote racist slogans inside these schools. Additionally, 133 schools were turned into shelters for IDPs.¹⁹ The war not only deprived students of their right to education but also stripped them of all rights guaranteed to them by international human rights law and international humanitarian law, foremost among them the right to life. During the aggression, 5,994 students were killed, and approximately 9,890 were injured. More than 266 educational and administrative staff members were killed, and another 973 were injured.²⁰

PCHR has long warned that Israel's policies, through their racist practices and oppression against Palestinians, are pushing towards an explosion in the occupied Palestinian territory. PCHR views the events of 07 October 2023²¹, as the culmination of Israel's racist policies and long-standing oppression of Palestinians. PCHR believes that the international community's silence, its uncon-

21 On October 7, hundreds of armed Palestinian militants infiltrated the settlements near the Gaza-Israel borders and seized control of them for several hours following intense clashes with Israeli forces, inflicting killings on both sides. The militants captured several Israeli soldiers and settlers and transported them to Gaza in a large and unprecedented operation. This was followed by a widespread Israeli military operation on the Gaza Strip and a ground invasion of most areas within Gaza, leading to unabated war during which war crimes were committed and, in their totality and nature, could amount to crimes against humanity and genocidal acts.

ditional and blind support for the State of Israel, and the international justice system's disregard for Palestinians, especially the International Criminal Court (ICC), which appears to have yielded to American and Israeli pressure and threats, have all contributed to reaching this breaking point, enabling Israel to exploit it to further its racist and bloody policies toward Palestinians.

IOF's genocidal campaign in the Gaza Strip have overshadowed the Palestinian scene and the human rights situation in the occupied Palestinian territory. Throughout the year, PCHR documented ongoing human rights violations and restrictions on freedoms by the Palestinian Authority (PA) in both the West Bank and Gaza Strip, under the persistent internal Palestinian political division that has cast its shadow over all aspects of life. Regarding violations of the right to life, PCHR recorded the killing of 70 civilians in the occupied Palestinian territory this year, including 15 children and 8 women, in internal dispute incidents as a result misuse of weapons, assaults on the rule of law, security operations carried out by law enforcement officials, and manifestations of societal violence. Among those killed, 39 were from the Gaza Strip, including 6 women and 13 children, and 31 were from the West Bank, including 2 children and 2 women. Additionally, 316 people were injured as a result of misuse of weapons and assaults on the rule of law in the West Bank and Gaza, all civilians, including 118 children and 30 women. Among the injured, 272 were in Gaza, including 114 children and 30 women, while 44 were in the West Bank, including 4 children.

The Palestinian security forces in the West Bank and Gaza Strip continued arbitrary arrests, summonses, and detentions of Palestinians without following legal procedures, in violation of the Basic Law, the Code of Criminal Procedure, and Palestine's contractual obligations, including the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights (ICCPR) and the Convention Against Torture. Many of those summonses and arrests were political or based on expressions of opinion, including posts on social media or participation in peaceful assemblies and protests. Those arrests and summonses were often accompanied by degrading treatment by law enforcement officials, including physical and psychological torture during the arrest process or detention period, as well as during investigations. The detainees' dire conditions in prisons and detention centers are exacerbated by the lack of minimum standards for treating prisoners and persons deprived of their liberty, including the necessary healthcare and overcrowded detention cells. In 2023, seven detainees died in Palestinian security detention centers and prisons, including four held on criminal charges and three on financial cases. Among the victims, four were from Gaza (three in police detention centers and one in a military prison); two died by suicide, and two others from deteriorating health. Three detainees died in the West Bank: two in police rehabilitation centers and one at a military intelligence facility.

In the same context, the ruling authorities in the West Bank and Gaza Strip continued to deprive citizens of their right to peaceful assembly, which is guaranteed by the Palestinian Basic Law, the Public Meetings Law, and relevant international laws. Both authorities imposed additional measures and decisions to restrict the right to peaceful assembly, preventing gatherings not approved by the ruling authority. Aside from precautionary decisions, both authorities forcibly prevented peaceful gatherings before they took place or dispersed them afterward, using force, including arrests, beatings, and firing tear gas and sound bombs on more than one occasion. They continued to apply double standards toward citizens' right to peaceful assembly, allowing non-opposing gatherings to their policies to be held smoothly and providing support and protection, while preventing gatherings opposing their policies, often imposing restrictions on such gatherings. On multiple occasions, these gatherings were forcibly dispersed, including by arrests, firing, beatings, and other means. The Center also documented instances where closed-door gatherings, workshops, and seminars were banned from taking place in halls and other venues, even though they are considered private gatherings that do not fall under the scope of the Public Meetings Law No. 12 of 1998 and thus do not require licensing or prior notification to the competent authorities. Therefore, preventing these gatherings constitutes a form of abuse by the authorities.

Regarding the death penalty, the authorities in the West Bank have refrained from carrying out executions since 2005, and the courts there have not issued any death sentences since 2015. Conversely, death sentences continued to be issued and executed in the Gaza Strip, despite human rights demands to refrain from its use in respect of international obligations and humanitarian standards. This year witnessed a relative decrease in the number of death sentences, with no executions carried out. Appeals courts, particularly military ones, continued the practice of intensifying sentences from life imprisonment to the death penalty, a trend that has significantly increased since 2022 under the justification of maintaining general deterrence. PCHR continued to document cases where death sentences were issued quickly, with only a few weeks between the commission of the crime and the issuance of the sentence, an insufficient time frame to establish a crime of such seriousness that warrants the death penalty. The latest example of such expedited sentencing was against citizen (A. N.) on June 25, 2023, after being convicted of killing citizen (Kh. M.) during a law enforcement mission on June 10, 2023. In 2023, the number of individuals sentenced to death in Gaza reached 12, with nine of those sentences issued by military courts. This brings the total number of death sentences issued in areas under Palestinian Authority control since 1994 to 292, including 262 in Gaza and 30 in the West Bank. Since the Palestinian division in 2007, 203 people have been sentenced to death.

Regarding elections, 2023 ended without Palestinians being able to hold general elections (legislative and presidential) since the last legislative elections in 2006. It has become more urgent than ever to conduct general elections to elect a president and a legislative council, especially amid the 2018 Constitutional Court's decision to dissolve the legislative council, which has been inactive for 15 years and has not exercised its oversight role since then. Since that time, both parties to the division have exercised legislative powers within their areas of control; the president issues laws by decree in the West Bank, while the Reform and Change Bloc exercises legislative authority in Gaza in the name of the legislative council. As for local elections, no consensus elections for local councils in the West Bank and Gaza Strip have been held since 2005. This year, the second phase of local council elections in the West Bank took place on March 26, covering local councils classified as (A, B) and councils where elections were not held in the first phase. The first phase was conducted on December 11 for 154 local councils classified as (C) in the West Bank.

PCHR 2023 Organizational Report

Challenges Facing PCHR's work during aggression

The Israeli aggression has undermined all aspects of life in the Gaza Strip and cast a heavy shadow on the work of Civil Society Organizations (CSOs), including PCHR. The latter was devastated by the loss of two of its staff members from PCHR's Woman Rights Unit, Nour Abu al-Noor and Dana Yaghi, after their family houses were directly targeted by IOF's warplanes. PCHR was also shocked by the killing of child Mazen Khattab, along with his family, in a similar airstrike as Mazen was a member of the Palestine's Children Council – Gaza Strip, which is established and supervised by the PCHR. Additionally, PCHR's staff members have suffered from displacement, the destruction of their houses, and the killing or injury of their beloved ones, sparking a real, common and unprecedented tragedy for all the Gaza Strip residents since the beginning of the Israeli aggression.

Since its founding, PCHR has faced numerous exceptional, difficult, and dangerous circumstances; however, it has consistently worked to achieve its goals, even in the darkest times for the Palestinian people, particularly in the Gaza Strip, which has witnessed multiple Israeli devastating aggressions.

The October 7th aggression is unparalleled in terms of the sheer number of casualties and the scale of destruction to civilian facilities and infrastructure. The IOF have also used starvation, displacement, and the blackout of telecommunications, power, and water as further weapons of Israel's heavy war machinery employed in the Gaza Strip. PCHR's staff have been directly affected by the aggression; two staff members were killed, many lost beloved ones, and all have experienced displacement, with most of their houses destroyed. Like the rest of the Gaza Strip's population, PCHR's staff have suffered from forced displacement and life hardships amid IOF's war of starvation and genocide against the Gaza Strip. During previous military aggressions on the Gaza Strip, PCHR's staff managed to continue their work through an emergency team. However, they are now unable to access PCHR's offices or receive complaints due to severe damage inflicted to PCHR's three offices as well as the almost impossible and extremely dangerous movement between Gaza's cities. All these circumstances have posed an extraordinary and enormous challenge to PCHR's ability to continue its work.

Despite these disastrous circumstances and the inhumane and challenging living conditions facing its staff, PCHR managed to resume its activities in record time. This has been achieved amid the unprecedented destruction of its offices, the fragmentation of the Gaza Strip's, the cutoff of communications, and difficult transportation, making field movement incredibly dangerous and hard. With the beginning of the Israeli aggression on the Gaza Strip, PCHR has implemented an emergency plan. Despite the dire conditions, intense bombardment across all areas of the Gaza Strip, the systematic displacement of the population, and the lack of any safe place, PCHR managed to regroup its staff and continue its operation. PCHR then rented a temporary office in Rafah, equipped with internet services and solar power, enabling its staff to work amid the power and communication blackout.

In cooperation with its strategic partners, PCHR has readjusted its various activities in response to the conditions caused by the aggression and identified operational priorities to work under the current circumstances in line with PCHR's strategic priorities.

Since the first day of the aggression, monitoring and documenting the widespread violations against civilians and civilian facilities have been one of PCHR's top priorities. This documentation has been employed to present a narrative from a human rights perspective reflecting reality on the one hand and refuting the narrative proliferated by Israel and its supporters in the international media on the other hand. The most significant challenge has been to prove to the whole world from our documentation of the facts on the ground that the Israeli war on Gaza is a war against civilians.

Monitoring and documenting incidents during this aggression poses significant and tremendous challenges due to the sheer number of casualties and almost total destruction of the Gaza Strip. It can be said that all residents of the Gaza Strip have experienced at least one type of Israel's serious violations. Consequently, monitoring and documenting these violations will be challenging and will require substantial resources and a long-term strategic plan.

PCHR, in collaboration with its partners, has already begun to establish a comprehensive framework for the monitoring and documentation plan to ensure that tasks are implemented effectively, and responsibilities are distributed in a coordinated manner. Additionally, PCHR has sought to increase its staff members by recruiting volunteers from its Friends Club across the Gaza Strip governorates, especially in Gaza city and northern Gaza, to overcome movement restrictions during the aggression and to address the vast and growing violations and cases as much as possible. Currently, PCHR and its partners are focusing on monitoring and documenting selected cases to support specific files identified as work priorities at the international level, particularly before international courts, or within the international advocacy campaigns aimed at exposing IOF's genocide and forced displacement in the Gaza Strip.

Moreover, international legal work is the backbone of PCHR's efforts, especially before the International Criminal Court (ICC) and the International Court of Justice (ICJ). This legal work is led by PCHR's Director, lawyer Raji Sourani, who represents victims before the ICC and is a member of the legal team in the genocide case filed by South Africa against Israel. Since the beginning of the aggression, PCHR has determinedly worked on building legal files to use them before various international legal protection mechanisms, including PCHR's work with ICC, the ICJ, and international commissions of inquiry. Given the unprecedented scale of the IOF's war crimes during the aggression that exceed the capabilities of all Palestinian human rights organizations combined, PCHR's staff are developing qualitative legal files to document the Israeli genocide, as well as all war crimes and crimes against humanity.

Furthermore, PCHR has allocated a significant part of its resources to support displaced women in shelters who face intense violations during the aggression. Additionally, PCHR has enhanced its monitoring of gender-based violence committed by the IOF particularly in light of the dire conditions inflicted by the ongoing aggression and siege and lack of all life essentials in the Gaza Strip, including women's needs.

Moreover, since the first day of the aggression, PCHR has given priority to the Palestinian detainees, particularly after IOF's ground invasion into the Gaza Strip; during which, thousands of Palestinians have been arrested. Meanwhile, thousands of others who were in Israel on October 7th have been arrested; mostly workers from the Gaza Strip who had work permits. These Palestinians have been detained in IOF or Shin Bet detention facilities and deprived of their legitimate rights, including visits from the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) and Palestinian or Israeli human rights organizations to the detention facilities. These detainees, including children and women, are subject to unprecedented torture and degrading treatment.

PCHR is monitoring and documenting the detention conditions of Palestinian detainees by taking testimonies from dozens of released detainees. These testimonies have exposed the detainees' severe suffering in these facilities, where they have been held in inhumane and degrading conditions and subjected to torture in a systematic and brutal manner. Furthermore, PCHR has documented cases of gender-based violence and violations related to the arbitrary detention of Palestinians. IOF have used sexual harassment and strip searches against female detainees from the Gaza Strip, with no regard for their privacy, in flagrant violation of all international norms and conventions.

International advocacy is a cornerstone of PCHR's work and has significantly grown during the aggression within PCHR's efforts to stop the genocide, displacement, and aggression on the Gaza Strip. PCHR's advocacy team has employed all information obtained from the field to strengthen its international advocacy campaign. The advocacy team, led by PCHR's director, has conducted numerous international tours during the ongoing aggression on the Gaza Strip. During those tours, many meetings were held with international senior officials and decision makers to exert pressure on Israel to stop the aggression. Additionally, PCHR has engaged in several international advocacy missions to unfold all what is going on in the Gaza Strip within the Israeli genocidal war. These missions have reached several countries and capitals, including Egypt, Spain, France, South Africa, The Hague, and Brussels. The advocacy efforts have been mainly devoted on the European Union Commission, the ICC, and the ICJ, aimed to halt the Israeli aggression and hold the IOF and Israeli top-ranking leaders accountable.

Moreover, PCHR has been fully engaged in the case filed before the ICJ aiming to hold Israel accountable for the genocide in the Gaza Strip, as well as in urging the ICC to prosecute the Israeli war criminals who have perpetrated crimes against humanity and genocidal acts in the Gaza Strip. Additionally, PCHR and its partners have played a vital role in filing the genocide case before the ICJ, through fully transparent cooperation with decision-makers and PCHR's partners in South Africa. PCHR has also intensified its efforts before the ICC to ensure the completion of investigations into Israeli crimes and the issuance of arrest warrants against Israeli leaders. PCHR has continued working with international human rights mechanisms, such as the Human Rights Council, treaty bodies, and special rapporteurs, to expose the Israeli violations, especially following the Israeli aggression on the Gaza Strip.

International advocacy is one of the most prominent activities conducted by PCHR, even before the recent Israeli aggression on the Gaza Strip. Throughout 2023, PCHR has launched several international advocacy missions to expose the IOF's crimes against the Palestinian people and to urge the international community to push for the prosecution of Israeli war criminals. Among these missions was one launched by PCHR in Argentina, coinciding with its participation in the Third World Forum on Human Rights in Buenos Aires. Additionally, PCHR has devoted significant international advocacy efforts to the ICC's work through various visits and meetings aimed at urging the ICC to complete its investigations into the Israeli crimes.

Furthermore, in 2023 PCHR further its activities with children, particularly with the Palestine's Children Council- Gaza Strip. Unfortunately, PCHR was devastated by the loss of one of the council members, Mazen Khattab (16), who was killed along with his family after IOF's warplanes directly bombed their house. PCHR has also faced numerous challenges in communicating with all the council members due to communication blackouts across large areas of the Gaza Strip. Despite this, on 04 March 2024, PCHR has successfully organized a meeting between representatives of the Palestine's Children Council and the Special Rapporteur on the situation of human rights in the Palestinian territories occupied since 1967.

It is worth noting that since 2021, PCHR has launched a program to defend children's rights and enhance their right to political participation through the formation of Palestine Children Council. PCHR has provided these children with the skills and knowledge needed to run the council. PCHR considers the founding of such a council is an important and strategic progress for its work with children over the coming years, to expand their experience, skills, and knowledge in human rights. PCHR has managed to empower children's right to political participation through various activities and significant events, where they met with officials and decision-makers.

Furthermore, PCHR has strengthened its partnerships at both the international and local levels by adopting a unified work mechanism with human rights organizations operating in the occupied Palestinian territory (oPt) to come out with joint positions on the ongoing Israeli aggression on the Gaza Strip and the West Bank. In addition, PCHR has initiated new partnerships on the international level to secure the funding necessary to continue and expand its work amid the challenges posed by the continued aggression.

Despite the incredibly challenging circumstances and IOF's ongoing incitement campaign against the Palestinian civil society, PCHR managed to secure new fundings to ensure the continuity of its work and fill the gap created by donors who unfortunately succumbed to Israeli pressures and halted funding for CSOs in the Gaza Strip. Among those donors were the Swiss Agency for Development and Cooperation "SDC", which contributed about 20% of PCHR's budget, and the Swedish Government, which has halted its financial support for Save the Children, a partner organization of PCHR in implementing projects aimed at empowering children, particularly the Palestine's Children Council project.

Throughout 2023, PCHR has successfully obtained the funding needed to continue its work despite the global funding crisis and the Israeli aggression on the Gaza Strip. PCHR has mobilized all resources to continue its mission in promoting human rights and redressing victims, largely investing in its remarkable reputation, well-known credibility and transparent relationship with the donors' community. With its long work experience in crises, PCHR has successfully managed this financial year, with a cost-cutting plan and maximum use of available funds.

On the other hand, Israel continued to persecute human rights defenders and the Palestinian CSOs, particularly human rights organizations. Additionally, smear campaigns led by the Ministry of Strategic Affairs in Israel continued and were backed by propaganda organizations operating under the cover of NGOs, especially the NGO Monitor, which is specialized in publishing false allegations and inciting against Palestinian and international organizations that expose the Israeli occupation's crimes against Palestinians.

Hereafter, PCHR presents the activities it carried out in 2023 in accordance with its new five-year strategic plan. The report provides a description of our activities, their position in the overall framework and direct indicators showing execution. The report also provides select success stories achieved this year, especially in terms of legal aid. PCHR considers this report an integral part of its strategy, which dates back to its foundation in 1995, towards promoting transparency and social accountability.
